7 Persons Hurt As Truck and 3 Cars Crash

Seven persons were injured yesterday at 1:30 p. m. when a tow truck pulling a car on the downgrade of Mile Hill, a mile east of Collegeville on Route 422, skidded out of control into the opposite traffic lanes.

Both the tow truck and the car it was pulling hit two sedans coming from the opposite direction.

In the towed car were Cary McDaniels, 19, of 349 Chestnut street, Roversford, and John Stubinski, 29, of King of Prussia.

The left side of the towed sedan's body slammed against the front end of another car carrying four persons, all from Stanton, Va., injuring the six occupants of both vehicles.

The driver of the tow truck, Norman H. McLaughlin, of Spring City, was uninjured.

THE THREE vehicles careened wildly on the hill and Mrs. Myrtle Schaeffer, 33, of Wernersville, who was following behind the auto from Virginia, applied the brakes to her car, trying in vain to avoid a collision.

Her car collided with the towed vehicle. From that point it was not certain how the four vehicles bumped against one another and finally came to rest.

Only one person was injured in the last car to meet with the accident. She was Mrs. Virginia Bloch, of 913 Marion street, a cousin of the driver, Mrs. Schaeffer.

She was taken to Montgomery hospital with the other six injured persons and treated for a small cut on her face and discharged.

Most seriously injured of the seven was McDaniels who was admitted for a fractured upper arm and forearm, lacerated tendons on his left hand and multiple cuts on his face and around his eyes.

The other man who was traveling in the towed car, Stubinski, was treated for a possible fractured left knee and a deep cut on the same knee requiring eight stitches to suture. He also had many small cuts of the face.

He was given X-rays and will report back to the hospital today.

THE FOUR other injured persons, all admitted to the hospital, were from Stanton, Va.

They were: Zoak Moran, 20, who had a compound fracture of his right leg, neck injuries and a deep cut on his right leg; Mary Crozer, 25, who was treated for deep cuts.

Watch It Now! Streaks in Sky Aren't 'Saucers'

The streaks of light you will see in the sky tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday night will not be birds, planes, or flying saucers. They will be Perseid meteors.

Dr. Charles P. Oliver, professor of astronomy at the University of Pennsylvania, said last night the meteors will be observable throughout the northern part of the hemisphere if the sky is clear.

The annual meteor shower emanates from the constellation Perseus in the northeast. The

Borough Shops Packed On Lucky Bucks Day

By FRED C. SELBY
(Mercury Staff Writer)

"Astonishing" and "terrific" were two of the words used by veteran Pottstown merchants yesterday to describe the way shoppers turned out in record numbers for the first Lucky Bucks Day, despite drenching rains that fell most of the day.

With more than half of the Lucky Bucks not yet cashed, borough shoppers will have a fine chance today to do as well as yesterday's shoppers.

Before the cashing-in point in The Mercury office closed at 5 p. m. yesterday, 30 shoppers had received a total of $25.

That still left 57 uncashed Lucky Bucks with a total redemption value of $327, if they all are found.

Lucky Bucks will be passed out today throughout the shopping hours, which are 9:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

CASHED YESTERDAY were two $50 Lucky Bucks; three worth $25; three worth $10; eight worth $5 and 14 worth $2.

The one big $100 Lucky Buck was NOT cashed.

Shoppers who found Lucky Bucks last night, or who find them this morning, can cash them in this morning between 9 o'clock and noon in The Mercury office, Hanover and King streets.

If shoppers can't reach The Mercury office by the noon deadline, they don't have to worry about losing out. Lucky Bucks can be cashed early next week.

Finding a Lucky Buck today will be just as easy as it was for yesterday's shoppers.

WHENEVER you make a purchase today in any of the 64 participating stores, hold on to the $1 bills you receive in change.

Then simply check the serial numbers on all these bills with the list of serial numbers appearing in today's Mercury. This list is up-to-the-minute. All the numbers on it are for Lucky Bucks that have not yet been cashed.

And the list is in alphabetical order for easy checking.

A typical reaction to the Lucky Buck turnout yesterday came from Jack Hoffman, a partner in the New York Store.

He said he didn't feel so good when he got up in the morning and all at once, Miss Faust declared, "I ought to go shopping more often."

She got the half-a-hundred at Burton's, while shopping with her.

HOFFMAN SAID he felt a lot better today.

Cary McDaniels, 19, of 349 Chestnut street, Roversford, was injured seriously in a four-car accident at Mile Hill about a mile east of Collegeville on Route 422 yesterday at 1:30 p. m. Six other persons were injured and four of them were admitted to Montgomery hospital. In the upper photo, the sedan at the left was being towed by the truck facing it when the vehicles went out of control and struck the car in the bottom photo, demolishing it, and then the tow truck and the other car crashed into the towed auto in the upper left of the top photo. Nicholas Urbano, Norristown, examines the totally wrecked auto in the lower photo.

Lucky Bucks Still Waiting Today for Lucky Shoppers Who Check Their Change

Here is the complete list, arranged in easy-to-read fashion, of the Lucky Bucks that are waiting in Pottstown stores for shoppers to get today in their change.

The list does not include any of the 30 Lucky Bucks found and cashed yesterday.

Check the $1 bills you receive as change today against the numbers on this list. If you find a serial number on one of your bills that is identical to a number on this list, bring the $1 bill to The Mercury office today between 9 a. m. and noon.

If you absolutely can't make the noon deadline, don't fret. You can cash them early next week.

Walkout Set Monday At Boyertown Casket Over Fired Employee

Some 300 employees of the Boyertown Burial Casket company last night voted unanimously in the Friendship Hook and Ladder fire house, Boyertown, to strike at 6 o'clock Monday morning until the business agent of their Local 406, Upholsterers' International Union (AFL), who was fired July 30, is rehired.

The strike will affect both the company's plants, at 23 Walnut street, Boyertown, and Fourth street and the Reading Railroad, East Greenville.

The voice vote in the fire house also will affect about 70 other members of the local not at the meeting.

Floyd R. Ward was fired for allegedly advising a new worker to slow his production. In a statement presented to the company Ward asserted he was "unjustly discharged through a jest that was supposedly misconstrued or misunderstood."

Ward, who lives in Landis Store, claimed the new worker came to him in the Casket repair department and expressed pleasure over the high number of caskets he (the new man) had handled.

Ward said he congratulated the man and commented that he would show up the older workers. Ward said he pointed out that on some days when repairs are more difficult the new workers may not be able to maintain his record, that the law of averages would give him both good and bad days.

Ward said the new man asked him three times within a few minutes if Ward thought he should decrease the amount of work he had been doing and the business agent replied that the condition of casket repairs automatically would regulate the workers' output on any given day.

WARD SAID he jokingly told the worker to "go to the water cooler and charge your battery," a quip made often by workers, especially on hot days.

The next day, Ward said, the worker apparently reported Ward had recommended a "slowdown" and Ward was fired the same day without a hearing, although the contract between the union and company called for one.

Ray Poldiner, of Fullerton, director of the union's Region 10 who, with John Coffey, union service representative, supervised the strike vote, stated last night: "Ward's discharge was (Continued on Page Seven)"

The effective date of the lease is Aug. 1, 1952.

HARTMAN STATED, "Pottstown is well located geographically for our purposes to serve about four of the counties (Berks, Montgomery, Chester and possibly Northampton counties)."

The assistant manager of the 60-year-old association reported, "The office will employ about a dozen persons to start off with, but it's erators will leave The Mercury's hard to say whether the number doostep in a bus at 8 o'clock next will increase or remain constant in Saturday morning for two days in the future."

Drought Hits Western Pa. Crops; Rainfall Still Below Normal on Statewide Basis
HARRISBURG, Aug. 8 (U)—This week's showers brought needed moisture to scattered parts of Pennsylvania but the western two-thirds of the state still desperately needs rain, a Federal-State survey showed today.
The state agriculture department released a Federal-State Weather and Crop survey for the past seven days showing that potatoes, corn and oats suffered greatly during the period in western and central counties.
On a statewide basis, rainfall for the week was only two-thirds normal. Some pastures in eastern Pennsylvania are improving but elsewhere many still are brown.
The report continued: "Harvesting of hay and grain advanced and some fall plowing was done. Hail damaged some corn and tobacco in the Lancaster area."
"YIELDS OF early potatoes in most sections are light but where moisture is adequate late varieties are doing nicely. Vine growth is below normal and, due to alternate dry and wet spells, a few stands are blooming for the third time."
In the southeast the soil moisture is generally adequate to insure a good crop. Harvesting of wheat in the north is nearing completion and cutting of oats is in full swing. Oats production is only fair due to the drought. Yields of Spring barley are below average. Topping of tobacco is common in the Lancaster area. In many counties the second cutting of alfalfa hay is short.
"Duchess apples and golden jubilee peaches are being marketed. Grapes in the Erie belt are small. Harvesting of snap beans is in full swing and picking of tomatoes for canneries has started. Market supplies of sweet corn increased during the week."

Syrians Expect Big Crop Despite Locust Plague
DAMASCUS, Syria, Aug. 8 (U)—Despite the threat of a locust plague, Syrian agricultural authorities are predicting a bumper harvest for Syria that will allow the export of wheat and barley.
The Ministry of Agriculture recently announced that Syria's crops would be harvested before the locust threat could materialize. It is estimated that Syria will produce nearly 800,000 tons of wheat this year, leaving approximately 250,000 tons for export. Barley is expected to reach 250,000 tons, with 75,000 tons for export. early stages, so closely resembles

Hog Shipments Banned by State In Disease Fight
HARRISBURG, Aug. 8 (U)—The state agriculture department this week banned importation of swine into Pennsylvania except those animals intended for immediate slaughter.
"Quarantine action is for protection of the state's livestock industry against a new and costly disease of swine that has not as yet appeared in Pennsylvania," said Miles Horst, state agriculture secretary.
Horst said the disease is known as vesicular exanthema and now exists in 20 states, including four counties in New Jersey and one in each of New York and Ohio.
"OF IMMEDIATE concern to the livestock industry of Pennsylvania is the fact that the disease, in its early stages, so closely resembles

TODAY'S CROSSWORD PUZZLE

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

ANYDLRAAXR IS LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

First Step Is Taken in Lower Pottsgrove To Change From 2d to 1st Class Township

The first step toward changing owners who signed the petition Lower Pottsgrove from a second to first class township was taken yesterday when a group of taxpayers filed a petition in Montgomery county court, Norristown.

The next move is for the quarter sessions court to appoint a commissioner to investigate the desirability of population in the township. The eligibility of a second-class township for advancement to first-class status hinges on the requirement that there must be at least 300 persons to the square mile.

The township, with an area of 7.45 square miles and a population of 3387, has approximately 454 persons to the square mile.

The petition, which began circulating among property owners early in June, required the signatures of the owners of 25 percent of the assessed valuation of township property. The assessed valuation of the township is $3,335,473.

Pottstown to annex any portion of Lower Pottsgrove.

mother, Mrs. Nelson K. Faust.

THE OTHER $50 winner was Mrs. James Yarnessa, 104 South Rockland street. She was shopping by herself when the Lucky Buck was put into her change at The New York store.

"It's the first time I've ever won anything," Mrs. Yarnessa declared. The $50 may go toward the long-deferred purchase of a cedar chest.

"When we had an apartment," she said, "we had the money but not the room. Since we had a house we've had the room but not the money."

THE PAST February, Mrs. John Fritz Jr., 316 Cherry street, kept a smile on her face as she came into The Mercury office twice the same Lucky Buck day with Mrs. Michael Kocur, 333 Cherry street. Each time, Mrs. Kocur cashed a $5 winner. Mrs. Fritz couldn't find a winner anywhere.

Yesterday, it was Mrs. Fritz's turn. She was the first Lucky Buck winner of the day, arriving at The Mercury office at exactly 10 o'clock with one worth $2.

ALTHOUGH THE overwhelming majority of yesterday's winners had never won before on Lucky Buck Days, Mrs. Wayne Mest, 82 West Fifth street, was an outstanding exception.

Two years ago, she won $50 on a Friday. The money was put to use the next day, when the family started its vacation. The past February, Mrs. Mest won $2.

Yesterday, Mrs. Mest came in with a Lucky Buck worth $25. Its finding was as well-timed as the first one she won, for the family is facing the expense of moving soon.

In all three cases, her 11-year-old son, Thomas, did the bill-checking that paid off. Yesterday's strike was made at the J. C. Penney company store.

ANOTHER REPEATER was Mrs. Milton Lindemuth, Pottstown RD 1. The past year, she won $3. This time, she got a Lucky Buck worth $10 at B. E. Block and Brothers.

THE WAY rain helped shoppers get lucky was illustrated by Mrs. Edith Badgley, Pottstown RD 4. "In other years," she said, "I felt alone to check all my bills."

But this time, she said, she had to be able to vote in the important S. Miller and Son store for the presidential election, Tuesday, the rain to stop, and decided to kill Nov. 4.

county section of Eastern Pennsylvania.

They were committed between the past Dec. 29 and the past Saturday, when Jeffersonville State Troopers Carl Ziebler and Vincent McGlene surprised him in his car outside the burglarized office of Ross Manufacturing company, Palm.

DRIES MADE the admissions to Sgt. Devlin and Corp. Donald C. Beacraft who had been questioning him for four days. "We'll probably have more later," the sergeant said. "Maybe tomorrow or Monday."

Most of the 16 additional burglaries he confessed yesterday morning were of schools in Berks, Lehigh and Schuylkill counties. None was in the Pottstown area.

His biggest haul of the 16 was of $709 from Muhlenberg high school, Laureldale near Reading. He got $333 from Luzerne high school and $250 from Annyville school, Lehigh. His total for the seven months of burglary work was more than $2000.

While he was burglarizing the high school in Emmaus, where he formerly lived he was forced to flee by the arrival of police, the officer asserted.

Sgt. Devlin said Dries, who has a wife and children, operated by himself from his home in Baltimore in a station wagon. In most cases, he broke a window to enter the office, then knocked off the safe's dial and used a punch to break the inside lock.

He carried professional tools and a revolver stolen from a school in Minersville. His 21 burglaries were committed between the past Dec. 29 and the past Saturday, when Jeffersonville State Troopers Carl Ziebler and Vincent McGlene surprised him outside the Ross Manufacturing company in Palm.

DRIES, who has a long criminal record, is scheduled to have a hearing Monday in Norristown.

If convicted, Dries could either go from county to county serving separate sentences or — and the more usual procedure — he could receive one long sentence in Montgomery county, with the other sentences running concurrently with it.

The other places Dries admitted burglarizing, police reported, were Coplay school, and Lehigh Advertising company, Allentown, both Lehigh county; Hellertown and Nazareth schools, Northampton county.

Minersville and Tamaqua schools, Schuylkill county; Hamburg, Ontonagon township and Shillington high schools, Berks county; East Mauch Chunk school, Carbon county; New Cumberland school, Cumberland county; and Mountaintop school, Lancaster county.

likely. Tomorrow it will be rather cloudy and warm with scattered showers or thunderstorms.

Yesterday, 7.6 inches of rain made the windshield wiper inventor a man of immense popularity. Between 5 and 8 a. m. alone, 12 inches of water poured on the borough.

Pocked Pottstown streets looked more appropriate for ducks than motor vehicles. Lack of storm sewers made some streets wash.

Pedestrians hugged the inside edge of sidewalks to avoid sheets of muddy water splashed by bouncing low pressure tires.

Between 8 a. m. and 2.30 p. m., when the rains ceased, an additional .64 inches of rain soaked the borough.

Hopkins county in Kentucky produced early 11 million tons of coal in 1949.

SEN. M'KELLAR SOUNDLY BEATEN

Dean of Senate, 83,
Concedes Defeat to
Gore in Tenn. Upheaval

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 8 (AP)—Late returns from scattered precincts today rolled up a wider margin of defeat for veteran Senator S. D. McKellar in yesterday's Tennessee Democratic Senatorial primary.

With unofficial returns complete from all but a few of the State's 2500 odd precincts, hard-hitting Rep. Albert Gore had a decisive lead of more than 15,000 votes over the 83-year-old dean of the U. S. Senate. McKellar was seeking an unprecedented seventh term.

The tabulation of ballots from 273 precincts gave Gore 501,346 votes and McKellar 222,928.

McKellar's defeat, which he smilingly conceded today, was only a part of the political upheaval that swept Tennessee in the Democratic and Republican primaries yesterday.

THE DEMOCRATIC voters rudely ended the four-year reign of Gordon Browning as governor of Tennessee.

Another young man, Frank G. Clement, 32, swept to victory over Browning, who was seeking his third straight two-year term.

Returns from 2282 precincts gave Clement 277,926 votes. Browning, 227,278 and Clifford Allen Jr. 67,682. Clifford Pierce, fourth man in the gubernatorial primary, trailed with 21,513.

Clement's victory brought E. H. Crump, Memphis politician, back into the picture as a potent factor in State-wide Tennessee politics.

The Memphis politico, whose gubernatorial and senatorial candidacies were defeated four years ago by Browning and Senator Estes Kefauver, supported both Clement and McKellar.

Clement's triumph ended Crump cohorts, but McKellar's defeat left the State's Democratic political picture slightly clouded. Crump, who had backed McKellar in every campaign since he was elected to Congress in 1911, was unable to stem the tide against his aging friend.

YOUR GEM STORY FOR TODAY

A man from Stowe writes, "When were diamonds first found in Africa?"

The first reported find of a diamond was in 1867. Schak Van Niekirk, a Boer farmer, stopped at the farmhouse of a neighbor. The wife of the neighbor had noticed an unusual stone among her children's playthings. She spoke of it to Van Niekirk, and when he seemed interested, she searched it out from discarded trash. Van Niekirk was attracted by the gleaming stone and offered to buy it. The Boer wife laughed at the idea and gave it to him for nothing.

He kept the stone about him for some time, not sure but that it might have some slight value. A traveling trader, John O'Reilly by name, came through the country and Van Niekirk gave the pebble to him. O'Reilly was to find out the identity of the stone when he came to some settlement. Through O'Reilly the stone reached the leading mineralogist of the Cape Colony and he determined it to be a diamond, 2 1/4 carats in weight.

The news of this discovery circulated throughout the colony and every Boer farmer began to keep a sharp lookout for pebbles which might be diamonds. Nothing of importance developed until 1869, when a fine white diamond weighing 83 1/2 carats was found by Niekirk in the possession of a native near the Orange River.

After this, two parties of prospectors were formed. They reached the valley of the Vaal River in 1870. Their work there was fruitless for some time, but finally they cut into a mound somewhat away from the bank of the river. Here the prospectors were rewarded for their labors by a rich yield of diamonds.

See you next Saturday.

Sixteen-year-old Russell Norris, of Pottstown RD 1, is shown competing for the title of "Champion Calfholder of Chester county." Norris, president of the Future Farmers of America at North Coventry High school, claims there's a science to lifting cattle, and has been demonstrating with this 2-month-old Holstein at the Shupe and Windle Feed company, Third and Hanover streets, regularly for the past month. The job gets tougher weekly. After two more months of feeding and lifting, the calf will be presented to the Pottstown Kiwanis club to be sold at public auction.

Vacationing With Mercury Readers

By THE VACATION EDITOR of The Mercury Staff

A Pottstown area Air Force man stationed at Hunsington, England, who calls himself "Chappie," sent The Mercury a card showing beach scenes from there. Hunsington is an English resort town.

The beach there has little resemblance to the beach there and those which Pottstonians habituate stretch out—people are not clustered and congested at Hunsington. Chappie writes, "It's not exactly a vacation, but I do get to visit the beach now and then."

MR. AND MRS. C. K. Rudisill, of Pleasantview road, say the "Fishing is great and we are sleeping every night with blankets," up in Ontario, Canada.

MR. AND MRS. Le Roy Erb and their "kids," Dick and Pete, of Pottstown RD 1, are "Enjoying two weeks of this lovely country (Amherst, Wisc.) and want to say 'Hi' to all the folks back home."

A Spot of Tea For Frank

Breda O'Sullivan, Irish milkmaid who picked up a bottle on the seashore at Dingle, Ireland, six years ago and found the name of ex-GI Frank Hayostak, Johnstown, Pa., inside, pours a cup of tea for him at her County Kerry home. Hayostak, described by Breda up to now as "only a man in a bottle," flew to Ireland to meet Breda after nearly six years of correspondence. The meeting of the two brought holidaymakers from Irish homes as far away as Killarney and Bally Bunion. "She's very nice," was Hayostak's word to reporters after the two climbed out of a pony cart. "We haven't discussed marriage — yet," he added.

CIVIL SERVICE GETS REQUEST

Commission Directed To Plan Merger of Federal Loyalty Programs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—President Truman today directed the Civil Service commission to draw up a plan for merging the separate programs under which Federal employees are tested for loyalty, security and general suitability.

In the meantime, he commended to the attention of all Government agencies a 33-page report on the workings of the security program made by an interdepartmental committee. It found great variance exists in the handling of the program among various governments and agencies.

The White house made public a letter the President wrote to Chairman Robert Ramspeck of the Civil Service commission in which he said he had studied the report at considerable length and that:

"I have concluded that the most desirable action at this time would be to merge the loyalty, security and suitability programs, thus eliminating the overlapping, duplication and confusion which apparently now exists."

"I should like for the Civil Service to take the necessary steps to provide me with a plan for combining the three existing programs into one at the earliest practicable date."

SINCE 1912 or thereabouts the Civil Service commission has been examining Federal employees for general suitability of employment. In 1947 the President set up the Federal loyalty program designed to weed out of Federal service, and keep out, spies, subversives, and disloyal persons.

There has recently mushroomed too, the security program aimed at those who while not disloyal are poor security risks because they drink too much, talk too freely, associate with disreputable persons and so on.

This last has overlapped, to a degree, the loyalty and general suitability tests. Truman on July 14, 1951, asked the National Security council to study the problem. It turned the task over to an inter-departmental committee whose report Truman made public today.

One of the principal flaws which the committee found was a lack of uniformity among the various Government agencies as to procedure and as to definitions of what is a security risk or a sensitive position.

Tanks and Infantry Fight 4-Hour Battle With Dug-in Reds

SEOUL, Saturday, Aug. 9 (AP)—An armored raiding party or Allied tanks and infantrymen thundered boldly into Red territory on Korea's central front Friday and fought a four hour battle with entrenched Communists.

The U. S. Eighth Army said the Reds fired 3000 rounds of artillery and mortar during the action. Soldiers have the Reds been so lavish in their use of big guns. Almost 10,000 rounds were fired along the entire 135-mile front.

The bold UN raid on the ground was matched by Allied warplanes who applied relentless pressure on North Korea for the fifth straight day, raking it with bombs and shooting down three more MIG jets.

The clattering tanks rumbled into position southeast of P'yong-gang. They sent shells screaming into Communist positions across a narrow valley. Infantrymen scattered to assault a nearby hill.

IN THE long, bloody fight an estimated 79 Reds were killed or wounded.

The Eighth Army said 11 bunkers were bathed in explosive fire and cleaned out. Six communications trenches were knocked out of operation.

There was no report of Allied casualties, and the Eighth Army did not say whether all the tanks returned.

The Reds held tight on their hill positions in the face of the UN infantry attack.

The action started at 5:45 a. m. and ended at 10 a. m.

Adlai Picks Mitchell As Demo Chairman

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 8 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson pulled a political surprise today by naming Chicago Lawyer Stephen Mitchell as Democratic national chairman.

Mitchell—a newcomer to the Democratic national scene—succeeds Frank E. McKinney of Indiana.

Stevenson's choice was announced after the executive committee of the Democratic National committee had given its approval to Mitchell. He is expected to be elected to the post formally at an early meeting of the full committee.

Stevenson—the Democratic presidential nominee—voiced his "utmost gratitude" for the services of McKinney who has held the post on a temporary basis since the Democratic National convention in Chicago.

Stevenson said in a news release that Mitchell and McKinney will meet with him here Sunday to discuss presidential campaign plans. The Illinois Governor's campaign manager, Wilson Wyatt of Louisville, Ky., also will sit in on the meeting.

McKinney, vacationing in Colorado Springs, expressed no surprise over Mitchell's appointment. He told the Associated Press:

"I have conferred with the Governor (Stevenson) during the past few days so it comes as no surprise. I told Stevenson that since my mission had been accomplished—uniting the party behind two strong candidates—I would prefer that he name a fresh man."

Mitchell is an old friend of Stevenson's. He is Irish and a Catholic as most of the Democratic national chairmen have been for years. He is 49 years old and a native of Rock Valley, Ill.

At present, Mitchell is chief counsel for the House judiciary subcommittee, investigating the Justice department.

With this move, Stevenson once again drew away from the old-line Democrats in naming the men who will play the leading roles in directing his campaign.

A brief biography handed out with the announcement of the appointment gave highlights of Mitchell's background.

Mitchell completed his pre-law studies at Creighton university in Omaha and then was graduated from the law school of Georgetown university, Washington, D. C., in 1938.

BY TAKING on the huge repayment task, West Germany will earn financial independence and wipe out the debts run up by Germany between the two world wars.

West Germany also will end her status as a bankrupt nation and will again be free to compete in world financial markets for private investment and capital.

To ease the burden on West Germany, the conference reduced slightly the rates of interest on the debts and stretched out the period of repayment.

The principal or original amount of the debts was not reduced in most cases.

The debts to be repaid include remaining principal on the big Dawes loan of 1924 and the even bigger young loan of 1930 in which private investors, mainly American, loaned Germany a total of some 300 million dollars.

JUSTICE DEPT. SHAKE-UP MADE BY M'GRANERY

Names Malone No. 2 Man To Fill Deputy Post; Former FBI Agent Also Appointed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—Some of the numerous vacancies in top-level positions in the Justice department were filled today, and Attorney General McGranery made some shifts among his chief aides.

The new appointments, made by President Truman on McGranery's recommendations, were:

Ross L. Malone Jr., 42-year-old attorney of Roswell, N. M., never before in the Federal government, to be deputy attorney general. In the No. 2 post under McGranery, Malone succeeds A. Devitt Vanech, who resigned as deputy last week to run for the U. S. Senate from Connecticut.

Charles B. Murray, 52, an assistant U. S. Attorney for the District of Columbia for the past 25 years, to be assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division. He will step into the post held since 1930 by James M. McInerney, shifted by McGranery today to become head of the lands division, which handles the purchase and sale of government lands and litigation connected with these properties.

Rowland F. Kirks, 37, until recently dean of National university school of law here, to be assistant attorney general for alien property. Kirks has been acting head of the alien property office since June 14, when he was brought into the department after McGranery had accepted the resignation of Harold I. Baynton as assistant attorney general in the alien property division.

McInerney, a former FBI agent, takes over the lands division in succession to William Underhill, whose resignation also was accepted in June.

McGranery told a news conference after the appointments were announced that he was "very happy with the present team" and that he does not expect to accept any more resignations among his top-level staff in the immediate future.

ALL TOP-LEVEL officials submitted courtesy resignations to the new attorney general when he took office in May, and several were accepted.

Bewildered by Deportation Order

Carl A. Latva, a 49-year-old mill worker, sits bewildered in his home at Wendell, N. H. He was ordered deported to his native Finland. Latva says he signed a Communist party membership application in 1934 because "they told me they wanted to win a strike in which I was involved." Federal Judge Charles E. Wyanski Jr., in Boston ruled "with reluctance" that Latva, who signed the Communist application, paid 50 cents and "never heard from them again," must be deported. Judge Wyanski said that under the McCarran act he was bound to uphold the deportation of Latva.

McGRANERY STEPS IN Deportation of Latva Might Be Avoided

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—Attorney General McGranery said today that he would prevent his deportation of Carl A. Latva, a 49-year-old mill worker, if he could not be deported under the McCarran act.

"But I, as the chief enforcement officer of the country, can exercise a certain prerogative in the field of prosecutions. I have latitude in deciding whether prosecutions should or should not be pressed."

"As the facts now appear, I do not think the public would expect me to take an action forcing this man out of the country."

"I will certainly not break up this family and send this man away if the facts are as they are presently reported."

Latva, a 49-year-old loomfixer, made appearances today in Federal court in Boston and before television cameras and then headed home to New Hampshire to await developments in his fight to escape deportation.

Latva ran afoul of the 1950 McCarran Internal Security act as a result of his voluntary admission in a naturalization proceeding that he once joined the Communist party in 1934 and made a 90-cent contribution.

McGranery said that his information indicated that Latva, unable to speak English at the time, thought he was simply joining an organization aiding labor groups.

"HE HELD no office and was a member only four months, on the basis of presently available information," McGranery said.

"He had two sons who served in this country in World War II. He posted $2000 bond before a disclosed the temporary Communist party membership himself," he may remain at liberty pending the past Wednesday denied counsel before the U. S. Circuit Latva's petition for a habeas corpus of Appeals.

Several years of poultry and general farming convinced the owner he would have to augment his income. He converted the old farm to fruit orchards and today 92 acres of peach and apple trees stand in clean rows on the fertile hillsides.

Two weeks ago Schultz closed his farming career when he sold Clover Hill Farms to Leslie J. McConnell, Philadelphia, electrical equipment jobber.

McConnell expects to continue operation of the fruit farm and to move to the 96-year-old colonial house with his wife. The old home was built by Schultz' grandfather, Amos Schultz.

"I didn't know anything about the orchard business when I started," Schultz explained. "It was my first experience with fruit. I started out in a small way."

THE FARM includes 49 acres of peach trees with an annual yield of 18,000 bushels, 43 acres of apple trees with a yearly harvest of 20,000 bushels, 20 acres of pasture and 18 acres of woodland. The cold storage house has a capacity of 18,000 bushels.

Schultz explained, "I whole sale most of my fruit. Only a small portion of it has been sold locally."

Besides the old house, there is an eight-room tenant house, and a bungalow, occupied by the orchard foreman, a 10-car garage, and a two-story packing plant with 6,000 square feet of floor space. Other buildings have 5700 feet of floor space.

ONE OF THE features of the home is original wall paper in the main hallway. The 96-year-old paper appears in good condition. The sale was announced by Ivan J. Snyder, of Lehman and Snyder, Schuylkill.

Schultz added, "I'm definitely going to retire. I'm looking for a house, not too far from the area."

Bible Words to Live by

One of the greatest verses in the Bible is:

PHILIPPIANS 4:19—"But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus."

I choose this for the following reasons:

This verse commends to the reader the only Saviour who is adequate to meet every need of any individual. It is adequate to meet needs as varied as human experiences. It is the verse that gives unlimited assurance to troubled minds and burdened hearts, and if accepted and appropriated it can empower anyone to translate any human experience into a gloriously triumphant event. It is the verse that gives to the triumphant heart the incentive to praise and recognize Him who is all things to all men.

Retiring Fruit Raiser Began with Chickens

From Poultry to fruit to retirement. This is the progress chart of Chester K. Schultz, Clover Hill Farms, near Nanticoke.

Forty-one years ago, when the price ratio between chicken and feed was more favorable to the farmer and nearly three decades before Hoover's "Chicken in Every Pot" Schultz began a poultry career.

His pullets were raised on the 182-acre Clover Hill farms, along Route 100.

Rain Cancels Activities at All Playgrounds

The week's activities at the borough's playgrounds were cut short yesterday with the heavy downpour of rain.

Pottstown youngsters who go to the play areas are keeping their fingers crossed that next week will not be spoiled by rain—it is the last week for playground activities this summer.

Friday at 4 o'clock in the afternoon the playground equipment will be taken in and put in mothballs until June, 1953.

But the last week of playground season is not a mournful occasion where the children sigh and moan about the end of the season.

Instead the youngsters plan their most extravagant entertainment of the summer during the closing week.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT at 7:30 o'clock, boys and girls from all nine of Pottstown's playgrounds will put on an operetta—a Senior High school entitled, "Mother Goose Island."

The operetta will be the grand finale of the playground season and also featured on the program will be individual surprise stunts put on by each play area.

The children at Tot Lot missed one of their playmates yesterday. He is Bryce "Butch" Manthorne, the son of Playgrounds Director Mrs. Florence Manthorne.

He is in Pottstown hospital recovering from an appendectomy. His friends made toys for him at the playground during the craft period and painted get well cards which the playground leader, Joan Jacobs, delivered to him last night.

The smile on Butch's face when he saw what the children had sent him was proof of the tonic the gifts his friends sent him were.

An EAR to the SKY

A certain kind of alertness is typified by the man who keeps "an ear to the ground." That man wants to be ready for what is going to happen. Perhaps sometimes he has to guess—but he tries to be one guess ahead of the rest of us.

There is another kind of alertness that is far more important. It is typified by the man in our picture. He has "an ear to the sky."

He is trying to be ready—not for what is going to happen—but for what is happening. He wants to have the spiritual strength to meet today's problems. He knows that tomorrow's happiness will depend on the success with which he overcomes each obstacle today.

The Church is one of his listening posts. Its message helps him understand God, himself, and the World—right now.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in our world for the building of a character and good character is a characteristic of spiritual culture. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor individualism can survive. There are four main reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself. (4) Which needs no more explanation. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Wife Kills Ex-Marine Following Quarrel; Tried Three Times

ATLANTA, Aug. 8 (U)—Three times in three years the same woman turned a pistol on Dan Webster Shattles and early today she killed the ex-Marine who was wounded in the Pacific during World War II.

The 33-year-old plant manager for an Atlanta coffee company was killed by a single pistol bullet fired into his temple as he slept on a couch at his home.

Police held his 35-year-old wife, Mrs. Mary Helen Shattles on suspicion of murder. The dark-haired woman calmly acknowledged the shooting to policemen who came in response to the phone call she made immediately after the killing.

POLICE RECORDS here and in Miami show: In October, 1949, when she was Mrs. Helen Manus, the woman shot Shattles on a street corner here, inflicting a minor flesh wound in the side.

For this, she was fined $27 on a disorderly conduct charge. In October, 1951, Shattles reported to Miami Police that the woman, by then his wife, fired two shots at him in their apartment, missing both times. He entered a charge of aggravated assault but withdrew it before trial.

Mrs. Shattles said the shooting today followed weeks of quarrelling.

British Atomic Tests Set for Indian Ocean
LONDON, Aug. 8 (U)—The Admiralty indicated today that British atomic weapons tests in a lonely stretch of the Indian ocean off northwest Australia either have started or are about to begin.

World shipping and aircraft were warned to stay out of an area of about 30,000 square miles dotted with a number of uninhabited islands—because they are now dangerous and will remain so until further notice.

The Admiralty announcement gave no hint of the duration of the tests nor of what kind of atomic weapons were to be tested.

In announcing the past December that Britain had built an atomic weapon and was preparing for its large-scale production, Prime Minister Winston Churchill said he had ordered tests to be carried out on the deserted Monte Bello islands, about 50 miles off Australia's northwest coast.

A British convoy carrying the nuclear weapons and test equipment landed in Australia the past month.

Union Officials Ponder Action

Floyd R. Ward (seated, center) business agent of Local 406, Upholsterers' International Union (AFL) who the Boyertown Burial Casket company discharged July 30 for allegedly advising a worker to slow his production, discusses with officials of the local and union the union-company contract clause that states he should be permitted to defend himself against a charge leading to his dismissal. Some 300 of the firm's 370 workers last night voted to strike at 6 o'clock Monday morning until the company rehires Ward. On Ward's right is Ray Puddiner, director of the union's Region 10 and on his left Russell Keyser, President of the local. Standing (from left) are Rufus Schoenly, recording secretary treasurer of the local, and Robert Rader, chief shop steward of the company's East Greenville plant. (Story on Page 1).

trumped up. The company's out to get him because he has been a militant union man."

Following Ward's discharge the union filed its grievance over the firing with the company and the company replied Ward was fired "for endeavoring to cause a cessation of production of work and otherwise interfering with the operation of the company's business in violation of the terms of the collective bargaining contract . . . and the rules and regulations in force at the plant."

THE UNION entered the second stage of the three-stage grievance procedure by reaffirming Ward's contention he was not guilty as charged, but Puddiner said, the company said "it was standing on what it had said before" and returned the grievance procedure papers without filing them out.

Lewis C. Schoenly, company personnel director, said last night on learning of the strike vote:

"The grievance is still pending. There is nothing to add to the company's original reply. The grievance procedure hasn't reached the third stage. Then there is arbitration after that."

He also claimed, "We have without any question the fact that he had asked this man to slow down his job. That's all there is to it. We have sufficient proof and fact to it."

Schoenly said he felt that since the procedure was not complete and there had been no arbitration the strike was called premature.

In defense of the strike Puddiner said, "A contract is not a contract unless it is enforced. If it doesn't work out, the only thing left is to strike. They (the workers) are just as determined to stay out as another six months to settle this."

The six months he referred to was the 21-week strike by the company employees in 1946 in an effort to bring the union into the company.

better the minute the doors were opened at 9:30 a. m., and saw the flood of wet, waiting women pour in.

It was all the store could do to handle the crowds during the day. He reported the store's parking lot, there was a parking jam that even two attendants couldn't break completely.

Hartman said the Pottstown office, the first district office established in the past 20 years, will take much of the load from the Philadelphia district office.

IN THE Spring of 1950, representatives of the association which will locate in Pottstown to the borough's business district with a total of 30 representatives of the Fire Prevention association of Pennsylvania.

The group inspected buildings along High street from the east to the west borough line and pub places such as schools and churches.

In a two day inspection, they found 232 places with faulty wiring, 151 buildings without adequate fire extinguisher protection and 36 homes with fire hazards created by poor housekeeping.

Included in the inspection were 44 business places, 19 churches and eight schools.

The inspectors found the reception in Pottstown "remarkable" and said that the residents were anxious to learn where fire hazards lay.

PARKING TICKETS —

being granted.

RALPH H. THOMAS, borough auditor, who handles ticket matters reported, "I have no idea why the number of tickets paid was less this year than the past year. I only handle the accounting. The police department should be able to explain the slack."

Chief James A. Laughead attributed the decrease to the steel strike. He explained during June there weren't as many people parking in the borough as in a normal summer month.

He added, "I really don't know what has caused the decrease in ticket receipts. But my men have told me there was plenty of parking space during June. That's the only possible explanation I have."

After a prosperous launching of the New Year, which found 1951 receipts easily surpassed, the number of tickets paid slipped sharply in March.

A 1952 high was recorded in February, when 682 parking violators paid tickets. This compared with 495 for February, 1951.

IN JANUARY, comparative figures show: 1951, 563; 1952, 612. Other comparisons are: March, 1951, 528; March, 1952, 457; April, 1951, 327; April, 1952, 398; May, 1951, 552; May, 1952, 480; June, 1951, 650; June, 1952, 297.

The six-month totals show a decline of 384 tickets paid in 1952.

Girl Who Lost Memory Remembers Wedding Day

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 8 (AP)—that there was something special Carolyn Bigham, a pretty brunette about Gwyn's note. She answered of 20 whose memory blanked out it and the correspondence blossomed into romance. Pretty soon, Carolyn said, "I knew I was falling in love with him."

For tonight at 8 o'clock was her wedding to Gwyn Daniel. It climaxed a storybook romance that began while Carolyn was making a game comeback from a deadly disease that attacked her in September, 1930—meningococcal meningitis.

The disease started with a pain in her neck. Then she became severely ill and had to remain in a hospital for four months. When she left the hospital, she had no memory of the past. Old friends and relatives were complete strangers and she didn't remember ever having attended school. Everything was a blank.

A SCHOOL TEACHER friend, Miss Nabele Smith, took charge of Carolyn. She taught her to read and write again. By February of last year she had advanced to the second grade. From then on, she made rapid progress, finishing her high school education for a second time in June this year.

Meanwhile, Carolyn's story had gone out to the world and thousands of letters were pouring in to her. One of them came from Ardmore, Okla.

It was from Gwyn Daniel, a 22-year-old service station operator who sent along a handkerchief and an encouraging note.

Denim is the crown prince of the cotton field this year. At one time denim meant merely dungarees. Now, however, it goes to the most elegant balls in unique, attractive formal. It is featured in the most tailored town suits and rates high for coat dresses, sundresses, lounging clothes, and, of course, is ideal for play clothes.

Denim's versatility extends to use for slipcovers for children's beds, for it is sturdy and washable—plus the fact that it comes in many attractive colors and designs.

Bright and Useful

Leonard Kohn

The fabric for this all-purpose daytime frock is of silk-faille, which is not too dressy for office wear and is still chic and feminine enough to go places after five. The dress is cut on tailored classic lines with two unpressed pleats in the front of the skirt and a slit seam down the center which simulates a closure. The two large patch pockets come from under the pleats and the sleeves are cut in one with the bodice. Buttered red is the color and a large rhinestone jewel decorates the neckline. This is the perfect choice for a career girl or a busy shopper.

BEATRICE FAIRFAX'S

Advice to the Lovelorn
Put This Man Out of Future

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am an unmarried mother 20 years old. The father of my baby is a married man 27, but he and his wife have been separated for two years. He tells me that he loves me and that he will marry me as soon as he gets his divorce, and somehow I believe him. Although he paid all my bills for the baby, he has since stopped writing me, and I am wondering if he still intends to marry me or if he has changed his mind. He was teaching school in another state, and of course I know that school is out now, but yet when I write him at that address, the letters don't come back. I still love him even though he has treated me like this.

Once he told me that his father said if he married me I would only be dead weight to him, since he has a college degree and I had only a high school education. He said, though, that even though this was true, he would still marry me. Please tell me what to do, because so much depends on it.

J. D.

Dear J. D.:

I'm afraid what you tell me about this man does not offer the slightest confidence that he intends to marry you. In fact, everything you say indicates that he is not a very reliable character.

American Women
Are Helping Many Orphaned Germans

BONN, Germany. — Little America on the Rhine is brightening the lives of many German orphans and needy families.

American women, wives of U. S. High Commission officials, have jumped enthusiastically into a variety of welfare activities for less fortunate Germans.

They've organized the "Bad Godesburg Women's Group" to coordinate their activities. Bad Godesburg is the Bonn suburb where the big High Commission housing project for its employees is located.

NEEDY FAMILIES. Orphaned German children anxious to learn English, and German adults who want to know Americans — all get attention from the American women's group.

The women asked German authorities for a list of 100 needy German families in the Bonn area. American women now visit these families every month to ease their problems and needs.

Seventy-five American couples paid ten dollars each to attend a welfare dance to raise funds for these families.

The American's have "adopted" five local orphanages housing local and refugee children from the ages of one to 15. Enough eggs were collected and dyed so that each of the 350 children received two eggs for Easter.

As late as 1663, European dinner guests brought their own knives and spoons because silverware was scarce.

Three Area Students To Be Awarded
Degrees at Penn State Commencement

The names of three Pottstown area men will be read as recipients of degrees at commencement exercises at Pennsylvania State College this morning, but only one, Joseph Ruyak, 24, of 857 North Evans street, will be present.

Curtis W. Gable, 23, of 143 South Washington street, Boyertown, one of the trio, is stationed at the Sampson Air Force base, N. Y., and Richard M. Edwards, 21, of 340 Chestnut street, Spring City, is working already in Seattle, Wash.

Mr. Ruyak, a 1946 Pottstown Senior High school graduate, who served two years in the Navy as a Machinist third class, will receive a bachelor of science degree in Physical education.

THE SON of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ruyak, he was a pitcher on the college's varsity baseball team three years, president of his fraternity, Pi Kappa Phi and a member of the Interfraternity council. He hopes to be employed as a baseball coach at some school.

Mr. Gable followed the footsteps of two brothers in enlisting in the Air Force. He was sworn in about two and a half weeks ago, one day before his draft notice arrived. His brothers are First Lieutenant Chester Gable, Lackland Air Force base, San Antonio, Tex., and Airman third class Robert Gable, Vance Air Force base, Enid, Okla.

Mr. Gable will be conferred a master of education degree in industrial arts. He was graduated from Millersville State Teachers college with a bachelor of science degree in industrial arts in June, 1951. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Gable.

MR. EDWARDS, a Boyertown Young Adult Picnic.

The Young Adult class of First Methodist church will hold its annual picnic this afternoon at Sunnyside park. Activities will begin at 4 o'clock with pony rides for the children. Dinner will be served at 5:30 o'clock. All members were asked to bring their own dinner. Drinks and ice cream will be furnished by the class.
